PUBLIC INQUIRY SEEMS ASSURED IN DRUG CHARGES

Official Correspondence Tabled in Court To-day

Assent by Crown counsel to a stay in the proceedings and the appointment if necessary of a Royal Commission to investigate direct and indirect charges featured the police court hearing to-day when F. W. Eccles, W. L. Smith and Frank Fernandez, otherwise Williams, were charged on remand with unlawful possession of a quantity of opium. Eccles faces a second charge, that of being in possession of opium for sale.

All three to-day were charged on the information of a Victoria taxi driver, Sidney Hunt, with using threatening language. Hunt is a Crown witness, and testified in the box to-day that Fernandez had used threats to him at midnight on the street when the accused person was accompanied by the two Mounted Policemen, Eccles and Smith, likewise charged. Eccles and Smith, alleged Hunt had joined in the threats. All three accused denied this fresh charge, and were admitted to bail on this count in the sum of $500 each. Pending the finding of the money all three accused were led below to the cells.

RURAL POPULATION OF B.C. IS LARGER

Average Size of Farms Has Diminished Statistics Show

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Average size of farms in British Columbia, diminished somewhat during the period between 1911 and 1921, were between ten and fifty acres in extent, while some seven per cent. were under five acres. Something over nine per cent of the farms were occupied by tenants in the latter year compared with 13 per cent. in 1911. British Columbia's rural population increased from 48,478 in 1901 to 277,029 the year the census was taken. The urban or town population, on the other hand, only increased from 90,179 to 247,662 in the same period.

Value of Property.
The value of all farm property in the province increased from $188,625,724 in 1911 to $201,379,643 or 6.8 per cent. but in this connection the difference in price levels of the two periods has to be remembered. Implements and machinery increased 164.3 per cent. in value over the ten years, while land decreased 7.7 per cent. Buildings increased in value by 39.2 per cent. and livestock by 44.5 per cent. The area of improved land in 1921 was 544,464 compared with 477,550 acres in 1911 and 473,683 acres in 1901.

Field Crops
Field crops were 345,201 acres compared with 239,649 in 1911 and 171,447 acres in 1901. The area in orchard was 37,233 compared with 33,618 acres in 1911, and 7,502 in 1901. The value of all field crops from the province for 1921 is given as $7,246,018 which increased to $12,424,554 in 1920. The production of orchard fruits increased from $1,025,576 in 1920 to $1,215,576 in 1921. The value of production in grapes, small fruits and maple syrup increased from $312,528 to $1,545,177. In 1920, apples contributed 15.6 per cent. of the value of all fruits. The apple crop in 1910 was 575,377 bushels, while in 1920 it was 1,764,303 bushels. Plums, apricots and peaches increased in the ten years from 80,444 bushels to 195,574 bushels; pears from 51,000 bushels to 129,250 bushels. There is also recorded increased production in peaches, strawberries and other small fruits. The value of all livestock in the province in 1921 was $23,000,292 compared with $14,135,968 ten years previously. Animal products including milk, butter, cheese, eggs, wool, honey and wax increased in the ten-year period from 1910-1920 from $2,678,453 to $10,393,021.

CANADIAN CLUBS SUPPORT LEAGUE

Action Follows Stirring Address by Sir George Foster

Following the address of Sir George Foster at the Canadian Club dinner last night, the Association of Canadian Clubs decided to support the League of Nations at this morning's session. Senator Bostock moved "that we recommend to the constituent clubs that they become members of the League of Nations Society and bring before their members the desirability of doing everything they can to support the League of Nations movement."

Mrs. Raymond seconded the motion which was carried.

Discussion also took place on the advisability of Sir George's speech being printed in pamphlet form and the idea was cordially endorsed. His argument for the league was one which should be distributed among the millions in Canada and United States, it was asserted.

PAUL RAINY, NOTED EXPLORER, IS DEAD

Big Game Hunter Died En Route to East Africa

New York, Sept. 19.—Paul J. Rainy, noted explorer and big game hunter, died at the Hotel Saxon, en route from Southampton to Capetown, his business associates were informed to-day in radio messages from his sister, Mrs. Grace Rainy Rogers.

He was bound for the ranch he had carved out of the heart of the jungle near Nairobi, British East Africa, when he was stricken by a stroke of paralysis. His body was buried at sea, the message from Mrs. Rogers said. The Saxon left Southampton September 17.

Although he made extensive explorations and valuable scientific discoveries, Rainy was best remembered as the first big game hunter of the tropics whose exploits were preserved in motion pictures.

He got his first taste of adventure near the North Pole. Then he turned to the tropics and after the British Government fell called upon to restrict his killings of lions and tigers, accepted a commission with the British forces, later becoming official photographer for the Red Cross in France during the world war.

Rainy was born at Cleveland on September 18, forty-six years ago, and for many years had been a director of W. J. Rainy, Ltd., a $10,000,000 coal and coke distributing concern founded by his father.

UPRISING IN TRANS-JORDANIA IS SERIOUS

London, Sept. 19.—Late reports yesterday indicated that the uprising in Trans-Jordania is more serious than was indicated by the official statement covering the situation, says a Jerusalem dispatch to The Daily Mail. The movement involves two native tribes and about 15,000 men. The British Government has issued an official report from Jerusalem. It was said that the Trans-Jordanian troops had dispersed the tribesmen, killing about thirty men.

COSGRAVE REMAINS FREE STATE LEADER

Re-elected To-day as President of Executive Council

Parliament Now in Session at Dublin

Dublin, Sept. 19.—William T. Cosgrave was re-elected by the Dail Eireann to-day as President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State.

Dublin, Sept. 19.—The new Dail meeting for the first time to-day, initiated what is generally expected to be a prolonged session.

The swearing-in of the recently-elected representatives has been in progress during the past two days. The oath has been taken in private before the clerk of the House to avoid the possibility of unpleasant incidents on the floor should any members refuse to subscribe to the pledge of allegiance to the head of the British Empire as stipulated by the Treaty. No protests have been raised and all has gone along smoothly, but no republicans have presented themselves for the ceremony. All of the de Valera followers are maintaining their determination not to swear fealty to a "foreign king."

With the republicans thus eliminated no one expects any drastic occurrence at the opening session. Professor Michael Hayes was re-elected Speaker of the Dail.

A group of women staged a demonstration outside Parliament House, where the Dail sits. They carried banners demanding the release of the republicans held prisoner by the Free States and announcing that Dan Breen is dying.

FUND TO CONTROL FOOD IN JAPAN

Yokohama to be Re-established as Silk Export Centre

Tokio, Sept. 19.—The Cabinet has decided as an emergency measure to supply a fund of 1,000,000 yen ($500,000) to control the price of necessities of life in the zone ruined by the earthquake. The Government will buy and sell such commodities, keeping stocks of them on hand.

Silk growers have pledged themselves to support the proposal to re-establish Yokohama as the centre of the export trade. Arrangements are being made to insure silk in transit. A mass memorial service will be held under the auspices of the Japanese Government October 2, in Tokyo's Honjo ward, where thousands were suffocated, while trying to escape the flames. More than one thousand Buddhist priests will officiate.

The Government's revenue has been reduced by a quarter of a billion yen by the remission of taxes in Tokyo alone.

Poincare went to the Quai d'Orsay and Mr. Baldwin to Rambouillet, to be received by President Millerand. An official statement issued after the meeting read:

"A meeting of the Premiers of France and Great Britain took place this afternoon at which they took advantage to proceed to the exchange of views on the general political situation."

NEW DEADLOCK IN THE IMPERIAL WIRELESS SCHEME

London, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press cable)—A fresh deadlock has arisen in the negotiations with the Marconi Company in connection with the long-delayed Imperial wireless scheme. The Daily Telegraph says.

The newspaper suggests that the only way out of the difficulty is to refer the whole matter to the Imperial Economic Conference.

GREEK SHIPS RENDER SALUTE

Another Phase of Janina Apology Concluded

Athens, Sept. 19.—Greece to-day discharged the measures of apology prescribed by the Allies for the Janina murders and the incident for a time that threatened the peace of the Balkans is regarded as closed. At 10 o'clock this morning the Allied squadron led by the Italian warship Conte di Cavour, steamed into Phaleron Harbor, where the waiting Greek ships rendered a salute of twenty-one guns to each flag.

Investigation Started
Janina, Albania, Sept. 19.—The Commission appointed by the Inter-Allied Council of Ambassadors to investigate the massacre of the Italian mission spent to-day in examining the report of the investigation undertaken by the Greek Government immediately after the assassinations occurred. The Greek report was the first evidence submitted. It includes the testimony of two witnesses now in custody, one of whom swore that the assassins wore the Albanian national dress.

The proposal of the Swiss representatives, Dr. Hans Bernhard and Fritz Beck, was worked out in consultation with Dr. MacLean and Premier Oliver yesterday. It provides for the establishment, probably in the P. G. E. territory, of a farm of 640 acres, and supporting twenty Swiss families. On this farm good and pure stock breeding and dairying would be carried out in accordance with the most scientific methods. The work of the central farm would show the Swiss farmers settling on smaller farms in the same district how to get the most profit out of their operations.

FIRE WILL CAUSE LUMBER DEMAND

Material to Replace Destroyed Homes at Berkeley

Seattle, Sept. 19.—Destruction of a large part of Berkeley, Cal., by fire, will intensify the demand for lumber produced in the Pacific Northwest, James E. Madison, secretary of the Douglas Fir Exploitation and Export Company, predicted to-day. He estimated that to replace homes destroyed in Berkeley would take 20,000,000 feet of lumber.

An increase in the demand for lumber expected because of the Tokio-Yokohama catastrophe has not appeared, it was said. This was explained by the fact that the Japanese, whose custom has been to buy their lumber from this country in squares made by sawing four slabs from each log, have not removed restrictions against the importation of smaller sizes.

Premier Busy on EVE OF DEPARTURE

All Pressing Matters Being Disposed of by Cabinet

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—With but two days before the departure of Premier King for England, work in the Premier's office is being speeded up as much as possible. A meeting of the Cabinet this afternoon will, it is expected, dispose of a number of matters which have been awaiting decision for some time. Several appointments remain to be made. But it is expected that some of these will go over until Premier King, Hon. G. F. Graham and Sir Lomer Gouin, return. The appointment of a number of soldiers' advisers to assist ex-servicemen in presenting their cases to the new Pensions Appeal Board is expected this afternoon and it is probable that the personnel of the Royal Commission which will investigate the Cape Breton strike will be decided on. There are judicial vacancies in the Exchequer Court and on the Manitoba bench as well as two Senatorial vacancies. These, it is thought, will go over until the Premier returns. This evening Premier King will be entertained at dinner by his colleagues in the Government, and to-morrow will be his last day in the capital. He will leave for London on Friday evening.

Indian Petition Filed by League

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 19.—The League of Nations has received the petition of Chief Levi, general of the Six Nations, has filed it, and will take no action—that was the blow handed to the advocates of the complete independence of the Six Nations Indians by Lieut.-Colonel A. T. Thompson yesterday, when he commenced his investigation into all conditions connected with life on the Six Nations Reserve.

The Thompson inquiry met with no support from the council of chiefs which is controlled by the Deshaugh faction.

To Lengthen the Life of Shoes

A little thoughtful care with but slight effort will keep fresh, attractive and efficient any class of shoe and add to their comfort as well as wear.

When wet or soiled, shoes of calf-skin or side leather should be carefully wiped with a cloth dipped in tepid water, and mud or other stains removed and the surface wiped clean. They should then be left to dry slowly in a normal atmosphere, preferably with trees in them. Do not set them by a fire or on a hot water coil or register. Let them dry slowly. Where the surface is not polished, a slight rubbing with olive or neat's-foot oil will put back the leather into its original condition of mellowness. Most shoes are injured or destroyed by artificial heat.

To clean patent leather wash with warm water and castile soap, polishing afterwards with a dry cloth. Patent leather being made by a varnishing process is very susceptible to cold or heat and sudden changes in temperature will produce cracking. Warm before putting on in cold weather and allow them to remain on the feet a while before going out in frosty weather.

Felt shoes should be bought a size larger than leather as the material shrinks when wet. Protect in Summer against moths in the usual way. Grease work boots occasionally with dubbin, bear's grease or other similar material especially in winter or after wetting.

LONDON HEARS OF CONDITIONS IN CANADA FROM SIR V. MEREDITH

London, Sept. 19.—Conditions in Canada were described as satisfactory by Sir Vincent Meredith, president of the Bank of Montreal, in an interview with the Canadian Press here.

"As there is a splendid crop throughout the Dominion, business should be more active this Autumn," he said. "The prices for grain are regulated by the Liverpool market, and these may not bring large profits to the producers, but the Dominion, as a whole, should benefit by the size of the crops. Canada, like other countries, is suffering from the unsettled state of Europe, which is depriving her of markets. Canada's debt is a burdensome one, but we shall find relief as the vast areas of fertile land, now unproductive, are gradually filled."

Sir Vincent, who is making his annual visit to the Paris and London offices of the bank, said he was pleased with conditions in France. The crops were good and the people were working and saving. He felt that in time the French would be able to balance their budget, and general conditions there would gradually improve.

So far as he could ascertain there was little or no unemployment in France. Referring to the subject of international trade Sir Vincent said he thought that a little too much had been made of the independence of the United States.

"If I am informed correctly—the exports of manufactured articles from the United States do not greatly exceed six per cent. of their total yearly production," he said. "The absorbing population of about 115,000,000 does not render the United States so dependent as many other countries on markets abroad."

That is not the situation in Canada with its small population relative to its United States neighbor. He said he thought it would not say that France is likely to take large quantities of our products, but with the improved position of her farming community France, I think, should be an opening for the Canadian

Earl Haig Was Surprised When Visiting Edinburgh

London, Sept. 19.—Earl Haig recently paid a surprise visit to Edinburgh Castle, and the great Field-Marshal received a greater surprise than he gave by his unannounced visit. He was in mufti and accompanied by his wife and two daughters.

"To back and pay your admission money" was the salute he received when attempting to pass the sentries, who of course did not know him under the circumstances. Earl Haig did as he was told, and then he and his wife and daughters proceeded to look around the Castle. He chatted with several of the men on duty, one of whom he recognized as having seen service at Loos. He left without calling on the Castle authorities, and the fact of his visit was not known until some time afterwards.

It would have been interesting to have heard Earl Haig's opinion of the statue of himself on the esplanade of Edinburgh Castle. It had been completed for nearly a year and had not yet been unveiled. The statue was a gift to the city of Edinburgh from an Indian admirer of the Earl. An endeavor was made to get the Prince of Wales to perform the unveiling ceremony, but it was refused, but it was put off owing to the donor of the statue being recalled to India. This was followed by further postponements.

The statue, when Earl Haig was at the Castle, presented a very weather-beaten appearance. It was covered with a few old pieces of dirty canvas, and the figure of the horse stood on a pile of stone which showed traces of being rapidly overgrown with grass. The rider had a comic appearance, and a broken down barricade surrounded by barbed wire completed the sorry spectacle.

BROTHERHOOD OF RAILWAY EMPLOYEES GET MORE MEMBERS

Calgary, Sept. 19.—The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees has increased considerably in membership during the past two years, it was reported at the afternoon session of the biennial convention on Tuesday. The organization has 153 locals with a total membership of 12,500, and when the fiscal year closed they had a bank balance of $26,500 after all liabilities had been attended to.

Following a meeting held last night, fears were expressed that the convention would not be able to finish their programme Friday as planned. They have a considerable amount of work yet to do and night sessions will now be the order of the week.

Fraternizing with the Farmers' Union of Canada, were brought by L. P. McNamee, of Kelvington, Sask., the president.

DIED FROM INJURIES IN BINDER ACCIDENT

Yorkton, Sask., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Joe Kronk, fifty, of East Otman settlement, died yesterday afternoon following terrible injuries received in a binder accident. While adjusting his binder, her husband injured his hand and he went to the house to have it dressed. Mrs. Kronk went out to look after the team and when her husband returned to the field he found the team had run away. Mrs. Kronk was found dreadfully lacerated about the body and legs, and died on arrival at the hospital.

BACK WAS BROKEN

Moose Jaw, Sept. 19.—With his back broken in two places, Walter Walden, of Paynesville, S.D., is lying in Providence Hospital, Moose Jaw, making a gallant fight for life. Walden was injured Friday when working on a binder near Tugaskie, Sask. He was brought to the city on a specially-constructed couch. Though little hope is held out by his medical attendants, the fact that the man is alive at all, is held to be most remarkable.

Shoes Should Fit When Bought

In the first place get a properly fitting shoe to a shoe dealer who knows his business. Above all see that the shoes are long enough and that the shoe is comfortable across the "ball" or main joints of the toes, without wrinkling. A shoe should really fit you when new almost as comfortably as your old one. To keep shoes "fit" do not wear them too long at a time or while they are wet. The surest way to destroy the appearance and fit of a shoe is to walk about in it while it is soft and pliable with moisture. When your shoes are wet take them off, clean them and put them away on trees till they are dry.

Don't place confidence in the shoe stretcher. Nine times out of ten it only affords partial or temporary relief. With the wide range of lasts available to-day, there are very few feet that cannot be fitted properly. If you have foot troubles go to a specialist and have them diagnosed and properly treated.

Most retailers to-day are competent to give you satisfaction and relief.

Don't wait till your shoes are run down at the heels or over on the side before having them repaired. Keep the soles and heels in good shape and the uppers will stand up and do their duty well.

Don't use fine shoes while doing rough work or wear them in bad weather, if you wish to keep them "fit."

MODERN METHODS IN MISSIONARY FIELD

Newspaper Advertising Helps Mission Work in Japan

Toronto, Sept. 19.—The effect of the Japan disaster on Christian missions in that country will vary as widely as methods of work vary, according to statements given out by officials of the Methodist Missionary Society. What is called newspaper evangelism, which is really a campaign of advertising and correspondence, need scarcely be affected at all, but the loss of churches, schools, orphanages and social settlements will be seriously felt.

By adopting the use of modern advertising and "follow-up" methods in Christian propaganda, the Canadian missionaries appear to have prevented the destruction of their enterprise in Dai Nippon. The first generation of Canadian preachers and physicians in Japan relied upon the Japanese thirst for the English language and Western culture to get a hearing for Christianity. To-day their colleges have to turn away hundreds of students. Last year the Kwansai Gakuin, or Methodist college, at Kobe accepted 1,500 students, and because of insufficient staff and buildings had to reject 1,200 applicants.

But in recent years many congregations had been established, and by Canadian and Japanese gifts churches had been built up in the larger cities in the devastated area. More recently still the workers, notably Dr. Daniel Norman, now on furlough in Toronto, turned to newspaper evangelism.

During 1922, his latest year of work along this line, Dr. Norman had more than eight hundred letters of enquiry and thanks. When leaving for Canada he was able to turn over to his temporary successor a list of 560 persons who were under his instructions by mail, so effective had his advertisements, letters and pamphlets proved. He has sold over a hundred New Testaments to inquirers and has had twenty-one baptisms from those on his list.

Dr. Norman is an enthusiast in favor of this modern method of reaching the people in the rural sections. He points out that, like Canada, Japan is a newspaper reading country, covered by newspaper circulation as by nothing else. This is due to the fact that while illiteracy is practically unknown and nearly all have had a public school education, still the number who rely on anything but the daily or weekly newspaper is very small. The advertisements used are small in size, but the campaign is continuous, and, owing to the scarcity of funds, very carefully planned. The follow-up is individual and persistent, and the good faith of applicants is further information is obtained by charging them half the cost of the literature furnished.

BRITAIN'S SUPPLY OF INSULIN IS LIMITED

London, Sept. 19.—The Ministry of Health has arranged to supply insulin to London doctors for the treatment of diabetic patients, but the provincial doctors cannot be supplied with insulin at present, owing to the restricted production, according to The Evening News.

Important progress has been made in the research laboratories in the London hospitals for the making of synthetic insulin. Tests have shown that insulin exists in certain kinds of fish, asparagus and some other foods, and the medical experts engaged in the research are optimistic that from these sources it will be possible to obtain far greater supplies of insulin than is the case at present.

They look forward to the cost of production of insulin being cheapened, the cost at present making the treatment prohibitive to thousands of sufferers.

Some countries are urgently asking for insulin, among them being British Dominions, notably South Africa, where there is not a dozen of insulin obtainable.

HARD TIMES FORCE SWEDES TO EMIGRATE

Stockholm, Sept. 19 (Associated Press).—The influence of hard times on Swedish emigration is illustrated by recent reports from Swedish iron and steel works, and from L. W. Fagerlund, Governor of the Åland Islands. The recent labor conflict caused a number of workers to leave their homes for America, attracted by the reports of industrial prosperity in that country. It appears that most of these emigrants were skilled workers.

Governor Fagerlund says that 518 Ålanders left for America during the first six months of this year. He has made a study of the causes of this exodus and has arrived at some interesting deductions. One category, he states, consists of young men who wish to perfect themselves in the latest working methods of their trade or profession, intending ultimately to return to the home country. Another group includes masons and construction workers who hope for steady employment in America. Others go out in the hope of earning enough money to pay off the debt on their family homesteads. Some are younger sons of farming families who are tired of working at home for almost no pay.

Unfortunately, the Governor states, very few return to their native soil, and of those who do come back many cannot adapt themselves to home conditions and finally turn again to America. This seems to be the case especially with the women, who find work on the home farms too strenuous after having become used to lighter kinds of work in America.

GET BEHIND THE LEAGUE

Isn't it the most common sense idea in the world?

If Sir George Foster had done no more than ask this simple question in his address last night he would have left a genuinely sympathetic audience fully persuaded that the League of Nations must survive and obtain all the strength and influence it requires to serve its great and noble purpose. But so splendid a theme in such capable hands lent itself to treatment in a discourse that translated more than six hundred people into an atmosphere of hope and encouragement and held them there for nearly two hours.

Sir George dealt with critics of the League of Nations in that kindly manner that stamps his own advocacy of international tolerance and universal trust. And the very simplicity of his appeal revealed the strength of his own conviction. "Isn't it the most common sense idea in the world?" puts the thing in a nutshell. What could be simpler? How many people in any country would give a government an order to settle its differences with other governments on the battlefield? It is such a common sense idea that one marvels why it should be so difficult and take so long to create that "habit of thought" which alone will compel an effective disarmament of the mind.

Sir George need make no apologies for his belief in the League of Nations. Its comparatively slow movement at the present time is no cause for dismay. It commenced its existence with fourteen members. It quickly increased to forty. After four years there are fifty-three. Every member joined voluntarily and not one would dream of dropping out. This ought to mean something to those nations that are not quite convinced that the League is the right sort of a body to give the world lasting peace.

In the last analysis the prop which must and will continue to support the League of Nations is the world's hatred of war and its clamorous demand for peace. But the method that has governed the settlement of disputes for centuries can not be wholly destroyed in a night. The League never anticipated that such a transformation would be possible and does not cherish any such hopes after four years of fruitful labor.

It is "the most common sense idea in the world." The world knows it and will see to it that the League of Nations lives. It must recruit its Fosters and make it thrive.

MR. B. J. PERRY

In the passing of Mr. B. J. Perry the city of Victoria has lost a citizen who was loyal to this community in more ways than one. His fund of knowledge was inexhaustive and he maintained an independence of thought and expression which lent strength of purpose to everything in which he took an interest. His frequent contributions to the newspapers revealed his detestation of unrealities. He was candid to a degree and never used an ample vocabulary to cloud a frank and sometimes daring expression of personal views. His directness in dealing with any subject characterized his conversation and his published work. He met fickle Fate in all its varied guises and laughed at all of them. His life was picturesque and full of absorbing interest. Yet few knew of his kindly manner and his willingness at all times to lend a helping hand. These unadvertised deeds will not be forgotten by those who will always think kindly of "B. J."

MOURNFUL MR. MEIGHEN

When well known and distinguished public men select the same day to give their ideas upon Canada's present economic position and her possibilities for greater prosperity and development it must be something of a shock to the Canadian people to read Mr. Meighen's doleful utterances.

When Sir Vincent Meredith reached London yesterday he was interviewed by the Canadian Press and said among other things:

As there is a splendid crop throughout the Dominion, business should be more active this autumn. Canada, like other countries, is suffering from the unsettled state of Europe, which is depriving her of markets. Canada's debt is a burdensome one, but we shall find relief as the vast areas of fertile land, now unproductive, are gradually tilled.

As President of the Bank of Montreal this distinguished Canadian is able to examine sources of information that are unusually reliable. His observations are not extravagantly optimistic. The banker is always conservative; but there is no gloom in Sir Vincent's remarks.

The following is a dispatch from Toronto that gives the impression of the general superintendent of the Government Employment Agency:

The employment situation at the present time is 20 per cent. better than it was at this time last year.

There is nothing very alarming about this state of affairs. No mention is made of a bread line or a forecast of a winter of distress. Mr. Frederick H. Richardson, a director of the Hudson's Bay Company, has just completed a tour of inspection of the company's stores in Western Canada and this is what he had to say yesterday:

I was astonished at the optimistic feeling which prevails in the West. Conditions indicate that the bottom of recent financial depression has been reached and that prosperity is not far away.

Surely the foregoing expressions in respect of conditions in this country are not all so sadly out of tune with actualities as Mr. Meighen would have the people of Regina believe.

The Leader of the Opposition was in an exceedingly doleful mood at the Saskatchewan capital last night. Twenty-one months of the Mackenzie King Government had produced nothing but a policy of sham. Its "incapacity" had been responsible for the "present economic distress and lack of progress." He also holds it responsible for what he declares is an increase of ten per cent. in the cost of living and contends that this is the reason why Canadians are going to the United States.

Mr. Meighen was not ready for the chilly shades of opposition. The atmosphere has got into his political bones and has clouded his vision. His speeches are those of a sadly disappointed man. But Canada will continue to be all right in spite of his gloom.

AN EXCELLENT PLAN

Canadians as a whole will second the suggestion which the Association of Canadian Clubs has made to inaugurate a plan that will bring the prominent men in the public life of the Empire into closer contact with the people of this country. Too much cannot be done to stimulate the desire to understand the sentiment and aspirations of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Much can be accomplished by the lecturer who has studied diversified conditions at close range. But travel is expensive and it naturally follows that some such influential organization as the Association of Canadian Clubs will have to co-operate with other bodies in this country in order to bring a comprehensive programme of fare within reasonable range.

Note and Comment

Mr. Meighen takes his defeat with very bad grace. He cuts a very mournful figure as he goes about the country telling the people that Mr. Mackenzie King is sending them all to the dogs as fast as he can.

Fifty-three nations have joined the League of Nations of their own free will and accord. Not a single one has the slightest intention of dropping its membership. This does not look like a failure.

Baron Renfrew has fallen in love with Canadian "flapjacks." We shall expect the royal breakfast table of the future to be decorated with its "stack." And H. R. H. might have lots worse fare.

Premier Baldwin and Premier Poincare are meeting in Paris to-day. The latter does not speak French; but the former is not likely to follow Briand and use the language of the royal and ancient for the official "conversation."

One of the investigators in the employ of the Liquor Control Board informed the Vancouver Police Court that he had taken fourteen "business drinks" in one day. There seems to be little room for "pleasure drinks" in a job of this kind.

HOSPITAL BOARD
NEEDS MORE FUNDS
FOR NEW BUILDING

Approximately $100,000 Required to Keep Hospital Out of Debt, Says McGregor

It is estimated that over $100,000 will be required to complete the building operations at the Jubilee Hospital, George McGregor, chairman of the board of directors of the institution, stated in his address to the Kiwanis Club last night. Victoria Kiwanians have long been interested in the welfare of the hospital, and in place of their usual weekly luncheon meeting, were entertained last night at the nurses' home, where they received a full report of the operations which the hospital board was considering, and the estimates of the cost of these activities.

Mr. McGregor stated in his address that the balance due on contracts already let was $148,926.43, and that cash assets amounted to $134,015.16, leaving an unpayable balance of $14,911.27. "We have been fortunate in carrying on as far as we have done," said Mr. McGregor, "but we still have a great deal of building to do. What is more, through the winter we will have to employ engineers and until after it is seen what funds are secured. Painting estimated to cost $12,000 is being done by the board's own men, and can be regulated according to funds. Linoleum estimated to cost $5,000 will eventually be required. The kitchen must be refitted and the new dining-room made ready for use; some work is required in the laundry; electric fittings will be necessary, while the finishing out of the diet kitchens and utility rooms will be dependent upon the funds secured.

The cash assets are:
"Hello Victoria" acct. . . . $ 1,051.60
Victory bonds 100,000.00
Sundry bonds 14,000.00
Greaves Estate 500.00
New building savings acct. . . . 11,923.56
Call loans 6,500.00
Total $134,015.16

With a balance of $148,926.43 due on contracts and cash assets totalling only $134,015.16, the sum of $14,911.27 is still required on present contracts.

Mayor Reginald Hayward will call a meeting of the representatives of all public and semi-public organizations of the city on October 2, and it will be at that time that the arrangements will be made for the starting of a drive for funds which will be necessary for the completion of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital Buildings. Later, the service clubs and all other public bodies, will band together in a great drive, making their goal some sum in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Kenneth Ferguson, president of the Kiwanis Club, stated to The Times last night that Kiwanians were greatly interested in the drive, and would do everything in their power to assist it, but that they were no more leaders of the campaign than any other service body of the city. A delightful repast was served in the spacious hall of the nurses' home, and Kiwanians sat down to enjoy, with members of the nursing staff, the sumptuous dinner. Under the leadership of Cecil Heston, the club members sang almost every song on their spacious sheet, and the club has a large repertoire. After the dinner the floor was cleared, and the Kiwanians enjoyed several hours of dancing, interspersed with vocal selections by members of the nursing staff, Misses E. Loosley and Purdy. Satisfaction was expressed by the Kiwanians that Miss McKenzie, director of nurses, was able to attend the function after her recent illness. The Kiwanians were very grateful for the hospitality of their hosts, and thanked them one and all for their entertainment, at the same time pledging themselves to support the campaign for funds in every way in their power.

“K” Boot House Is Old-Timer

INTERVIEWED on the question of shoes and their prices, Mr. Hoyland of Stevenson & Hoyland Limited, said: In these days of reconstruction the question is often asked why this or that article has not come down to the pre-war level of prices, and shoe prices have not escaped the general criticism.

“It must be borne in mind that the cost of tanning, materials, wages and general merchandising is decidedly higher today than in pre-war days, and in the shoe manufacturing world all over-heads have been greatly increased. Power production for the factory, owing to the increased cost of coal, is about double, freights are higher, government sales tax and import tax are additional, so that the price of a good shoe today is only in keeping with the cost of its manufacture.

Cheap shoes are always obtainable, but in every case they represent a loss to someone, and in the long run very little gain to the purchaser. Such shoes must be either out of date or sold in bankrupt stocks to satisfy creditors.

“We have been engaged in the wholesale shoe business in Vancouver for 20 years,” continued Mr. Hoyland. “Originally under the name of Stevenson Brothers, and latterly under the present firm name. We have always featured ‘K’ shoes of British manufacture and, as everyone knows, ‘K’ shoes have an enviable reputation extending over a period of 50 years, when the first factory was started in Kendal, Westmoreland county, England. Since that time the fame of ‘K’ shoes has spread to all portions of the British empire. Always a good shoe, the ‘K’ shoe today has kept pace with modern improvements and styles and is a prime favorite with discriminating buyers.

“Our present warehouse is in one of the oldest warehouse buildings in the city. It was formerly occupied as a customs house, later on by the wholesale grocery house of Oppenheimer, then by Pilkington Brothers and latterly by our own company. We have accommodation for a large stock of ‘K’ shoes from which we supply the retail trade of Vancouver, Victoria and all parts of British Columbia, also supplying our connections in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and we have latterly opened up a very large trade in the states of Washington, Oregon and California, where this famous English shoe is finding a good market in preference to shoes of American manufacture.”

Feet Have Cause to Kick

Solomon in one of his proverbs speaks of those who “kick” with their feet. There are feet, which if they could speak, would protest soundly against their treatment in comparison with other parts of the human anatomy.

The straw hat with men is absolutely “rung out” on September 15, and for a man to appear after that day with a yellow “lid” is an invitation for some one to take a swipe at it.

But you will find some smartly dressed men shuffling around in half worn, scuffed out, Summer or sports shoes until the leaves fall and the snow flurries announce the oncoming of Winter.

No man is well dressed who neglects his pedal extremities, and the fellow who ambles about these days in shapeless, run down shops advertises himself as a back number. As a matter of good business wear decent shoes.

No real man would think of starting the Fall season with last year’s “Christie,” and yet you will often find intelligent, well-to-do men wearing shoes that have been out of date for two or three years.

So dulled has become our sense of the fitness of things that you will find men at funerals in black clothes with light tan shoes or at a wedding celebration decked out with a pair of heavy Scotch brogues.

Extra Pairs of Shoes Economy

Few men or women realize the economy as well as the effective and comfort of possessing several pairs of wearable shoes at one time.

A change is as good as a rest, and this applies to the feet as to everything else. It is wonderful what a relief to the feet and therefore the feelings, results from putting on a pair of fresh shoes.

A change of shoes twice or three times a day will refresh and build up vitality amazingly, as those who follow the practice can testify.

A rest is good for the shoes themselves. They recuperate as well as the wearer, and speak their appreciation in retaining their shape and appearance longer.

Smart shoes have their psychological effect upon both wearer and observer. A man maintains his self respect and reputation for neatness by keeping his shoes up to the mark.

An extra pair of shoes is to-day as logical as an extra pair of trousers. There is more sense in keeping wrinkles out of the shoes than out of the trousers knees.

In some of the luncheon buffets at certain American stations, for the reassurance of doubting customers, it is the custom to mark on the shell of a boiled egg the date on which it was laid.

On one occasion a party arrived at a station shortly before midnight and demanded eggs of that day's laying.

"Sorry," answered the attendant, "to-day's eggs are all gone; but" here he glanced at the clock, which pointed to a quarter to twelve—"if you'd not mind the date, I could give you some of to-morrow's."

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

SHOULD ADVERTISE VICTORIA AS THE CAPITAL OF B.C.

Former Kumtiks Member in San Francisco Makes Practical Suggestion

From time to time evidence is brought home to Victorians in convincing fashion of the confusion created between visitors concerning the identities of Vancouver and Vancouver Island. Some visitors are under the impression that Vancouver must be on Vancouver Island, hence the name, and the mistake is not confined to tourists, for literature has been known to reach this city containing pictures of beauty spots attributed to Vancouver, but in reality in Victoria.

Practical Suggestion
 One of the easiest and most practical suggestions to effect this confusion has been suggested by Miss Mason, a former member of the Kumtiks Club, now living in San Francisco. In a letter to the club a few days ago Miss Mason makes the following suggestion:
 "Since coming here it has often occurred to me that the Kumtiks Club might carry on a very effective work towards putting Victoria on the map. During the time I have been in San Francisco I have met very few people who have any knowledge at all of Victoria; some of them have never even heard of it before, but they all know Vancouver, and the majority of people who have heard of Victoria are under the impression that it is a pretty residential district of Vancouver."

"I think the chief reason for this is that for awhile some bright spirit got the idea that we should advertise Victoria by referring to it as 'Victoria, Vancouver Island, British Columbia,' which appears to have resulted in the above impression, and that Vancouver, instead of merely being a city is a whole island and all the other places in British Columbia are just a part of it. At some time during its career, Vancouver must have been very extra-territorial, advertising in California which has resulted in its being well known in business circles here, and many of the larger firms in San Francisco have branch offices in that city."

The Capital City
 "My suggestion is that we establish Victoria's identity by referring to it when and wherever possible as 'Victoria, British Columbia's beautiful capital (or something of that sort) that would be distinctive and apply only to Victoria, thereby giving it a place of its own and not simply in relation to Vancouver. Both these cities have attractions and features peculiar to themselves, and while we do not wish to detract from Vancouver, neither do we wish Vancouver to trade on Victoria's advantages because these are of entirely different stamp, and one who would be attracted by one style would not be particularly interested in the other, and vice versa. Consequently there is no reason why both these cities should not have their own respective places."

Miss Adams, school nurse, was received as a new member, and Mrs. Brown was proposed as a member. Mrs. R. C. Knowles was appointed convener for the rummage sale which will be held on September 29, for which gifts of old clothing and discarded articles will be gratefully received.

A cheque for $20.70 from the Community Chest was received.

Municipal Chapter—The Municipal Chapter will renew its business meetings after the Summer holiday tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Jones Building. Many matters of importance will be discussed.

Stonework in the Garden

Next to the flowers themselves, there is nothing that gives so much charm to the garden as a little rough stonework, to my way of thinking. A low, irregular stone wall against a little bank, two or three curving stone steps around a bend, stepping stones set in the grass, or a built-up pile of stones holding a bird-bath in their laps—all these add immeasurably to the garden's loveliness.

To suburban dwellers such effects are not difficult. Smallish stones are generally to be had, and the children may drag them in a stout wooden cart, which they may make themselves. As to the builder of the walls or steps, I know one office man who attributes his splendid fitness and hard muscles to the out-door work he does around his place on week-ends and holidays.

Autumn is the ideal time to get such work done. By October, the air is cool and crisp, and one may work outdoors without getting heated and perspiring. Then, too, the stones get a sort of settled look before next Spring, and when the new grass comes in March, it will grow up around the stones and make them look as if they had been there for years. It is not only country dwellers who may indulge in decorative stone work. I know a city back-yard—the tiny garden of a famous painter—that has wandering cobble-stone paths, a low stone wall with vines climbing over it, and semi-circular flight of stone steps leading from the house to the garden. He did all the stone-work himself, in moments of relaxation and play, when he laid his busy brushes down and went out to get some muscular work in the open.

If stones are not to be picked up in your immediate neighborhood, a cartload can be delivered to you at a price low indeed for the amount of beauty you can pile up.

CHINESE MISSION WORKER IS BRIDE

Pretty Wedding Last Night United Miss Phyllis Cheung and Hong Kwan Gok

A very pretty wedding took place last evening in the Chinese Methodist Mission, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion, when Phyllis Cheung, evangelistic interpreter at the Oriental Home, became the bride of Hong Kwan Gok. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Baker, the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of Miss Martin, the superintendent of the home, who also gave her away. Clad in a simple gown of white silk with pretty veil and wreath of orange blossom, and carrying a beautiful shower bouquet of roses, swansonia and maidenhair fern, the bride looked charming. Her only ornament was a gold necklace, the gift of the groom. Miss Silver Lee made a very pretty bridesmaid, dressed in white organdie and carrying a lovely bouquet of pink roses and mauve sweet peas and fern. The groom was supported by Chow Goum Pon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. R. Baker, assisted by Rev. C. H. Lum, who interpreted the service in Chinese before a large number of the friends of the bride and groom.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the large schoolroom, where the groom had provided a delightful wedding supper. The tables presented a festive appearance, centered with a handsome wedding cake and decorated with mauve and pink asters by friends of the bride. Toasts to the bride were given by Rev. C. H. Lum in Chinese, and by Miss Martin and Rev. H. R. Baker in English.

Members of the Mission Band, including the Go Bong brothers and David N. G. Seing, very efficiently assisted in serving during the supper. Following the Chinese custom the guests afterwards repaired to the home of the bride and groom, where the serving of refreshments, consisting of Chinese fruit, nuts and sweets was one of the concluding ceremonies of the festivities.

A large number of beautiful gifts from both Chinese and English-speaking friends, testified to the popularity of the young couple, who, after a brief honeymoon up the island, will make their home in Victoria.

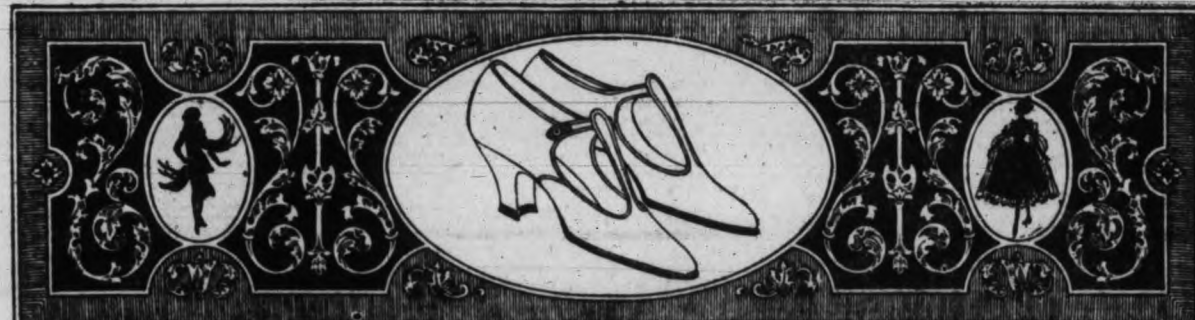

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Burkholder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant, Mrs. Pandray and Miss Agnes Spencer, of the Advisory Board, Miss Whiteside, Miss Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Chung, Dr. Victoria Chung, Miss Martin, Miss Smith, Miss Baker, Miss Henderson, Miss Ede, Miss Nakabayashi and Mrs. Wil-

Evans Is Beaten By Five Stymsies Laid by Hunter

Former British Amateur Champion Defeated Famous American by 2 and 1

Willie's Approaches Deadly; Bobby Jones Just Squeezes Through; Von Elm Wins

Chicago, Sept. 19.—In the second round of the United States amateur golf championship today Guilford will meet Cummings, Herron will play Sweet, Shute will face Allis and Fownes will play Gardner in the upper half. In the other half of the bracket Marston will play Jones, Wells will compete with Davis, Outmet with Hunter and Manion with von Elm.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—After a day of spectacular golf, all the best known United States players survived the first thirty-six-hole round of match play in the national amateur championship except Chick Evans, of Chicago, who was eliminated by Willie Hunter, of Los Angeles, formerly British titleholder, two and one. Sixteen players survived.

The largest gallery yesterday watched Evans go down before Hunter's deadly run up approaches and no fewer than five stymsies. Without the stymsies Evans likely would have won by a comfortable margin; for Hunter was wild from the tee, driving three balls out of bounds on the sixth hole of the afternoon round and allowing Chick to square the match for the first time.

Evans did not play as well as he did Saturday and Monday when he tied Bobby Jones, for low medal score at 75-149, but he was better than Hunter, having the stymsies. The rugged Briton did not seem to mind the rough, however, and he ploughed through it several times to even himself with Chick, who had played beautiful shots to five lies.

At the thirty-third Evans topped his brassie into the creek and he could no better than halve the thirty-fourth, although Hunter hooked his drive to the rough and was short of the green in two. One down and two to go. Chick sliced his drive in the thirty-fifth and failed to get home in two, losing the hole and match when Hunter holed a birdie four.

Bobby Jones, the United States open champion, barely managed to finish the morning round, tied up in his game with T. B. Cochran, of Wichita Falls, Texas. On the long thirtieth Bobby won his match, for he holed a birdie four and a par three on the baby thirty-first, where Cochran hit a tee and dropped into a trap. This made Jones two up and he could not improve that lead. In the afternoon he par and par alike with him for the next four holes, until the match ended.

The incumbent title, Jess Sweetser, of New York, defeated Albert Sichel, of Chicago, once intercollegiate champion, ten and nine. George von Elm, of Salt Lake City, formerly transmississippi champion, downed Capt. E. F. Carter, of Chicago, formerly Irish champion, eight and seven, making a first round in seventy-one or three better than par. H. K. B. Davis, San Francisco, although only two up at the eighth, bested George Blossom, of Chicago, seven and five.

Joe Wells, of East Liverpool, champion of Ohio, beat E. C. Wells, of Ann Arbor, one up.

Youngster Wins
A youthful export from Huntington, W. Va., Denmore Shute, state amateur champion, defeated Eddie Heid, of St. Louis, transmississippi champion, three and one by shooting seventy-one in the afternoon. The West Virginia lad had a notion that the match was a foregone conclusion at the eighth hole, so when he found himself four down and four to go in the morning, he underestimates the game as he victor. When Heid explained that he had eighteen more holes to go, Shute, finding that he needed only to play desperately to overcome his opponent, went out after luncheon and whaled out pars and birdies until he was victor, three and one.

Dexter Cummings, of Chicago, intercollegiate champion, eliminated Harold Weber, a veteran player from Toledo, four and one, and Ned Allis, of Milwaukee, ousted Art Sweet, of Chicago, four and three. Max Marston kept Philadelphia in the running by defeating John Simpson, of Indianapolis, and James Manion, of St. Louis, overcome Francis Blossom, of Chicago, three and two.

Quicker a Winner
Francis Outmet, of Boston, defeated Anthony Haines, Rockford, Ill., two and one.

Bob Gardner, of Chicago, won from Rudy Knepper, of Sioux City, three and one.

Dave Herron, of Chicago, who won the title three years ago, had an uphill battle with Russell Martin, a Chicago youth, but won out five and four.

The seventh national title winner in the contest, W. C. Fownes, of Pittsburg, held the lead all day by a narrow margin over Tom Frailey, Chicago, and won three and two.

English and U.S. Lady Golf Stars Meeting To-day

Miss Leitch Plays Miss Collette in Second Round of Canadian Championship

Mount Bruno, Que., Sept. 19.—Miss Glenna Collette, United States champion, eliminated Miss Edith Leitch, of Walton Heath, Eng., in the second round of the Canadian women's open golf championship here to-day. Miss Collette played remarkable golf. She was five up on the Englishwoman at the turn in the eighteen holes, which constituted the round, going out in thirty-seven, which is two below the women's par for the course. Miss Collette won by five and four.

Other interesting matches are: Mrs. Hutchings, Winnipeg, vs. Mrs. Spaulding, Niagara Falls; Mrs. W. C. Gavin, Huntercombe, vs. Mrs. H. C. Foy, Quebec.

In the qualifying consolation Mrs. Brydges, St. Charles, Winnipeg, won from Mrs. F. Hansomby, Que., 3 and 1.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—In a day's playing, remarkable for a number of real thrills, favorites emerged safely from the first round of the Canadian women's open golf championship yesterday. Western Canada was kept in the running when Mrs. Harold Hutchings, of Winnipeg, though penalized by two strained wrists, played brilliantly to win from Mrs. F. G. Woods, Beaconsfield, by 4 to 3.

The other Western representatives were eliminated by Mrs. C. Armstrong, of Victoria, B.C., lost to Miss H. Meehan, Cedarbrook, Penn., by 8 and 6, and Mrs. R. K. Bearst, of Winnipeg, lost out to Mrs. W. A. Gavin, England, 5 and 4.

BILLIARDS
Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 19.—The second series of six games in the National three-cushion billiard championship tournament will open here this afternoon with a match between the present champion, Johnny Layton, of St. Louis, and Robert L. Canfield, of New York. Otto Reisel, of Philadelphia, will meet Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, to-night.

In the first series concluded at St. Louis last night, Reisel won all three games played. Champion Layton lost all three, Denton won two and lost one, and Canfield won one and lost two.

Games will also be played here Thursday and Friday.

Soccer Curtain Will Be Hoisted This Week-End

Two First-Class Games Will Usher in Season on Saturday Afternoon

West Meets Islanders and Sons of England Play Navy; Good Teams Lined up

President Alex. Robertson and his trusty stage hands are all ready to yank up the curtain and give the fans a glimpse of the football season on Saturday afternoon.

At a meeting of the Victoria and District Football League held last night the final arrangements were made for the opening of the show for the 1923-1924 season.

Two first division games will be staged on Saturday, the draw being as follows:

Victoria West vs. Island Club at the Royal Athletic Park; referee, Stokes.

Royal Canadian Navy vs. Sons of England at the canteen grounds; referee, P. Payne.

Bye, Veterans.

None of the managers of the four teams that will be in action have had much to say as to the talent they have lined up for the fray, but it is understood that a number of new players will make their debut in local first class company.

West Weakened
The Wests have had to scout about for a number of new men to fill in the gaps caused by the retirement of Bob Whyte, the veteran full-back; the departure of Gordon Leeming, their goalie; to the Veterans, and also Clarkson, who will also wear a West jersey. There is talk of some of the other Wests hanging up their boots and going in for golf.

Jack Youson, who has managed the Wests for fourteen years, and made up his mind to retire, but the supporters of the club have told him that there is only one who can handle the greenfield, and that is the honorable Jack. So it is expected that he will hold the reins on the Wests once again.

Sons Are Better
The Sons of England will be out in good numbers this year and believe they have a good chance to land the championship. They were second best in the Wests last winter, and should the champions not be up to their strength of last year there may be a change.

The Islanders are expected to be very strong. They will have a number of last year's Metropolis players in uniform and have signed a number of other stars.

The Navy can be relied upon to field a strong eleven, and it will have strong support from the sidelines.

The Veterans are believed to be the team to watch. They will not be in harness on Saturday, so the fans will have to wait until the following week to see them in action.

The club has signed a particularly strong side and is picked in many quarters to win.

Second Division
Four clubs will compete in the second division this year, and the brand of football in this circuit should be exceptionally good. Esquimalt and the Princess Pats have sent in their entries, and two other teams are now filling out their forms. It is hoped to start this division started on September 23.

A difference in procedure with regard to transfers will be in force this year. The president reported to the meeting that the adjourned annual meeting of the B.C.F.A. it was decided that players will be allowed two local transfers and also that as soon as a transfer form has been handed in to the secretary of the local governing board the player will be transferred immediately without further formalities.

LEONARD AND DUNDEE WILL NOT MEET UNTIL EARLY IN NEW YEAR

New York, Sept. 19.—The lightweight championship match between Henry Leonard, the titleholder, and Johnny Dundee, who holds the featherweight crown, scheduled at the Yankee Stadium, September 23, has been called off because of the lateness of the season. It was announced yesterday by Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker of the Cromwell Athletic Club.

Johnston declared that he planned to promote the match early in the 1924 outdoor season. The combination of weather risks and the fact that public interest in the proposed fight had lessened influenced the promoter in deciding to cancel the engagement for this year.

Leonard and Dundee originally were matched by Johnston to fight September 5, but it was postponed because of Dundee's alleged poor condition, though Johnston also admitted that he was influenced by a small advance sale of tickets in deferring the contest at that time.

REACH SEMI-FINALS IN PLAY FOR TITLE AT COLWOOD CLUB

In the second round play of the ladies' club championship of the Colwood Golf and Country Club played yesterday, the results were as follows:

Mrs. Gillespie won from Mrs. MacKenzie by default.

Mrs. Kayward won from Miss Gray by four and three.

Mrs. Rithet won from Mrs. Morison by seven and six.

Mrs. Abel won from Miss Richards by six and four.

In the semi-final round to-day Mrs. Gillespie is playing Miss Gray and Mrs. Rithet plays Mrs. Abel.

WALTER JOHNSON HAS SET HIS GREAT PITCHING RECORD WITHOUT EVER FUSSING WITH AN UMPIRE

Washington, Sept. 19.—Baseball fans have a keen interest in the big stars of the game.

After every contest in which some of the leading lights appear, there's always a big following outside the dressing room door to get a closeup of the favorites.

What kind of a fellow is So and So? That is a common question asked about the famous men of the diamond.

Perhaps no player in the game has had a more spectacular career than Walter Johnson. Coming to the American League as an unknown rookie pitcher, inside of a month he was the sensation of the circuit.

Until the coming of the lively ball most of the glamor of the diamond centred around the pitcher. He was the big hero.

Johnson always has won and lost on his merits. Never has he stooped to unsportsmanlike methods in order to increase his effectiveness.

When at the height of his career, Johnson could have made himself practically invincible if he occasionally resorted to the "bean ball," thereby intimidating the batsmen.

A Real Sportsman
"I don't want to win ball games," Johnson once replied in answer to why he never resorted to such a method, "and I would never forgive myself if I injured some one in that way."

As a result batsmen always faced Johnson, possessor of more speed than any pitcher in the history of the game, without the slightest fear. Blessed with good control, they also were aware that he would never throw at them.

No umpire can ever recall Johnson making a serious kick and no doubt they have slipped many a tough one against Walter.

"Fussing with the umpires never helped any pitcher. The umpires like to do their work well, just as I like to pitch a good game. I have always felt that the less you fuss with the umpire, the better he works."

This episode in which I was the umpire, best illustrates what a remarkable character Johnson is:

Johnson Settled Dispute
In the ninth inning of a ball game, with two out and the winning run on third, the batsman hit to the first baseman. Johnson went over to take the throw. He beat the runner to the bag but overstepped it six inches, in such a way that no one on the infield could really see the slip.

I ruled the runner safe, the decision allowed the winning run to cross the plate and defeat Washington. Immediately I was surrounded by every player on the infield, all insisting I had missed the play.

"Bill was right. Get on me, boys. I missed the bag," said Johnson. Then he walked off the field.

Of course that ended the dispute. Perhaps only an umpire can appreciate what a big thing that was for Johnson to do.

Walter Johnson is one of the grandest characters in baseball. If all pitchers were like him I would work for half salary. I wish he could go on pitching forever.

Johnson, despite the many records he has established, is the same modest unassuming fellow he was the day he arrived from Weiser, Idaho, back in 1907.

Hockey War May Break Out Over Signing of Trihey by Patrick

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—The signing of Clem Trihey, the amateur hockey player, by the Pacific Coast League, may precipitate a hockey war, states a Montreal dispatch to The Winnipeg Free Press to-day.

Leo Dandurand, manager of the Canadiens, will protest and carry the case to the highest hockey tribunal in the country. He claims under the terms of agreement between the N.H.L. and the Coast League, the latter has no right to take amateur players from the territory allotted him, which includes Quebec, the Lower Provinces and Lower Ontario.

SUCCESSFUL SMOKER HELD BY CRICKETERS

A most successful smoker was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium by the Wednesday Cricket League with about 100 cricketers present. During the evening's entertainment the beautiful silver cup was presented to the Broad Street team winners of the Wednesday league.

The cup was accepted on behalf of the club by Captain D. Spencer and G. Heineke, manager of the team.

A fine programme was rendered during the evening, those taking part being E. R. Leck, C. Askey, S. Davies and G. Campbell.

Albie and Jumbo Davies, the dust-weight boxers, battled three exciting rounds to the delight of the gathering. The big bout of the evening was the heavyweight fight between P. Shrimpton, the "Man-Killer," and P. Payne, the "Wild Bill" of the Pacific, which resulted in a draw. Both fighters had left their wallops at home, so the fans were robbed of a lot of knock-downs.

Short addresses were given by Percy Payne, president of the Wednesday League and the three managers of the respective teams.

Refreshments were served.

FIROPO WILL APPEAR IN MONTREAL RING AGAINST REAL GIANT

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Tom Dugan, local fight promoter, announced yesterday that Luis Firpo would appear in a Montreal ring on September 23. Dugan said that Firpo would box a six-round exhibition with Elmer Rioux, Giant French-Canadian, who was one of Jack Dempsey's sparring partners during the latter's training for the recent heavyweight battle.

Cleveland Again Stops New York In Pennant Race

Yankees Have Still to Win One Game to Cinch Flag; Giants Going Ahead

New York, Sept. 19.—The Yankees failed again yesterday to clinch the American League pennant, losing to Cleveland 5-3, while the Giants rose a notch in the National League by beating the Cardinals 10-4.

The Pirates beat the Braves 12-2, and Cincinnati, being idle because of rain, fell back a little further.

Detroit and Philadelphia divided a double-header, the Tigers winning the first 8-2 and losing the second 10-4.

St. Louis and Washington also divided a double-header, the Senators losing the first five to one and winning the second 2-1. The White Sox trimmed the Red Sox 6-2.

Giants Buy Three
Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 19.—Bill Terry, manager and first-baseman, Fred Lindstrom, second baseman, and Pitcher Pat Malone, of the Toledo American Association team, have been sold to the New York Giants, it was announced to-day by Roger Bresnahan, president of the local club.

TAYLOR WINS TITLE AS THE HEAVYWEIGHT WRESTLER OF EMPIRE

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—Jack Taylor, heavyweight wrestling champion of Canada, easily defeated Frank Simmons, of England, in two straight falls here last night in a bout advertised as for the championship of the British Empire. Taylor secured the first fall with a body scissors and arm hold in twenty-one and a half minutes, and the second with a head scissors and arm hold in thirty-three seconds.

Sid Marks, formerly of New York, and now of Winnipeg, scored a technical knockout over Kid Alberta, of Chicago, in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 18.—The operation of pari-mutuel machines in connection with horse racing is not a violation of the Arizona anti-gambling law, according to an opinion handed down yesterday by Superior Judge Dudley W. Windsor.

Judge Windsor gave his opinion in sustaining a demurrer brought by Attorney-General Murphy to a complaint filed by McCord Harrison, Imperial representative of the Ku Klux Klan, seeking to enjoin state officials from permitting the use of state fair grounds for pari-mutuel racing during the state fair in November.

Looking Things Over

When Everett Scott played his 1000th consecutive game early in the season at Washington the crack shortstop of the Yankees was said to have established a record for continuous service.

Just when Scott was being handed all kinds of bouquets for being the "iron-man" of baseball, it developed that while Scott had set a major league record for consecutive games played, it was not a world record. Digging into the records it developed that Perry Lipe had it on Scott to the extent of 126 games. During a period of nine years Lipe, playing in some of the smaller minor leagues of the South, took part in 1,136 consecutive games.

During six of the nine years in which Lipe set his remarkable record, he not only played, but acted as manager as well. In all that time he missed only one inning of play, when he was put out of the game on June 10, 1909, for protesting a decision too strenuously. Lipe started on his long run of consecutive games in 1903.

In the recent series at Detroit, Scott hit the 1,120 mark. At that time the New York Club had more than twenty games still to play. So that Scott, if he escapes injury, will have passed Lipe's mark of 1,136 shortly before the close of the season. In a sense Scott's record is more remarkable than that of Lipe, because all of Scott's games have been played at shortstop, generally considered the most dangerous of all positions on the infield.

CANADIAN MOTORBOAT SETS NEW RECORD FOR LONG RUNNING

Rosseau, Ont., Sept. 19.—All records for water travel by any type of craft within a period of twelve hours, it is claimed, were shattered yesterday when Harry Greenings' Rainbow III covered 513 miles in an elapsed time of eleven hours thirty-five seconds and forty-three seconds.

ENGLISH CARTOONIST GETS DEMPSEY'S MITTS

New York, Sept. 19.—Tom Webster, cartoonist of The London Daily Mail, sailed yesterday on the Manhattan for England with two cherished souvenirs of the Dempsey-Firpo championship fight, given to him by the victorious titleholder. The mementoes were the white sweater which Dempsey wore about his shoulders when he climbed into the ring and the set of boxing gloves with which the American knocked out his Argentine rival.

ARION CLUB

The Arion Club under Prof. Howard Russell entertained with choruses before and after Sir George Foster's address at the Canadian Club dinner at the Empress Hotel last night. B. C. Nicholas, president of the Association of Canadian Clubs, who presided at the dinner, in introducing Prof. Russell and the members of the club, explained that the Arion Club is probably the oldest male musical club in Canada and is the pride of Victoria. Applause and demands for encores broke out at the end of each number.

The parishioners of St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, at a largely attended parish meeting last evening, chose H. Large as warden, in place of Mr. Griffin. A vote of confidence in the acting rector, Rev. C. Reed, was adopted. Some economies in the administration of the parish were ordered. Refreshments were served later.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS NOT FAD BUT ACTUALLY AVERTING WAR, SIR GEORGE E. FOSTER SAYS

Sir George Foster, representative of Canada at the League of Nations, in a masterly address at the dinner of the Association of Canadian Clubs at the Empress Hotel last night, explained the purposes of the League of Nations and told of some of its accomplishments to date.

Upwards of 600 persons crowded into the dining-room and standing far out into the palm room of the hotel listened to him and followed him through to the end of a long speech.

His address was largely a reply to that criticism of the League of Nations voiced before Monday night's dinner of the Association of Canadian Clubs by President Suzzallo, of the University of Washington.

B. C. Nicholas, president of the Association, who presided at the dinner, introduced Sir George by referring to his conspicuous career of public service, nationally, imperially and internationally, over forty years. He described Sir George as having held portfolios in the Government of Canada over a longer period of time than any statesman in Canada.

The League of Nations is trying to realize a dream of the past, the ideal of the present and the actuality involved in coming up to that ideal in the future, Sir George said. "It is creeping gradually, step by step, climbing higher towards its goal, profiting by experiences and mistakes."

Welcomes Suzzallo's Speech

He asserted that he welcomed President Suzzallo's speech as a contribution to the League of Nations discussion. He explained that the president gave the impression that the League of Nations was something conceived overnight and that he did not have very much faith in the permanence and efficacy in an organization conceived overnight and expected to be obeyed next morning.

The League of Nations, Sir George replied, was a product of the Peace Conference, a delegated body from all the failed nations engaged in the late war. Leaders of the nations thought there ought to come a time, and perhaps the time had come, that the nations should sit down together and argue their differences before a judicial tribunal, might examine into the real causes of the differences between them and settle those differences without plunging nations into a terrific struggle in which the might and honor of the nations were involved.

A Common Sense Idea

"It was not a fantastic idea," Sir George went on. "Isn't it the most common sense idea in the world?" This question was replied to with a storm of applause from the audience.

The object lesson of the war impressed on them that now was the time to do this, if ever in the history of the world, when men's hearts had been rent by the war, when 9,000,000 had bitten the dust, when 19,000,000 casualties limped through the streets of the world, and when all the other consequences of the war were apparent, such as famine, plague, demoralization of physical, mental and spiritual morale.

"It has its ridiculers and its enemies and its critics; it also has its friends," Sir George said. "I want to prick that bubble that there was a simple get-up of some brain-fagged persons who had no responsibility and no backing, and who had concocted this thing and said, 'Here is something for the world to follow.'"

He asked what was the first thing the peace conference did. He said the first resolution passed by that body was for the appointment of a commission representative of the fourteen principal countries and say to them that their duty first and foremost was to get together and draw up a plan for an association of nations.

In accordance with this for three months the committee of the best and sanest men who could be found in the world worked on that problem for a plan for an association of nations. They held ten sessions, formulated a plan and published it to the world.

"Fifty-three nations are in and seventy-five per cent. of the population in the world are in those fifty-three nations. That conveys some strength. And fifty-three nations on the wrong track, and is one president of a university on the right track? It is pretty good proof that the nations consider there is something in it if they dip in their pockets year after year to support it."

Sir George then took up the criticism that the League of Nations had been "torpedoed, gone on the scrap heap" because of the Greco-Italian imbroglio. He explained that the League was never formed to make peace. It was the supreme council and their allies that made the peace. The machinery that had to do with the making of peace and the keeping of peace were two different things.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearlessly they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

"The moment she did that she violated the League of Nations compact," he continued. "No amount of assertion made by Mussolini that he didn't mean war would hold."

Sir George added that the moment that issue was raised, no country has experienced such strictures as showed down on Mussolini in fifteen days.

He went on to tell how Mussolini then said, he would submit to the ambassadors council and how Greece said that such a proposal suited her. The conference of the ambassadors co-operating with the League of Nations announced as one of the articles of their decision that Mussolini should get out of Corfu by September 27. Mussolini, however, then decided that he would not get out of Corfu until the matter of responsibility for the murder of the party had been settled.

Then the League pressure came, Sir George went on. "Mussolini had rendered himself amenable to the articles of the League, when it was found that Mussolini proposed to set far in advance his getting out of Corfu."

If Mussolini doesn't get out he will have the ambassadors council and the League of Nations to fight, and he will not fight them.

"The opinion of an experienced statesman of Europe is that if there had not been a League of Nations, Italy would have been on the back of Greece and there would have been a war that might have involved all Europe."

Issues Handbook

Sir George urged all to get the handbook of the League of Nations, which will be sent by Secretary Richardson, of the League, Ottawa, for five cents. He said it explains all that the League has done in the last year.

He then went on to tell in detail how Austria, down and out a few months ago and with her exchange utterly demoralized, ready to give up all efforts at conducting a Government, had appealed to the League, and how the League had taken charge of Austria and is now rehabilitating her. The League has taken complete charge of Austria for two years, and put in a Dutchman as controller. Lopped off the government, and stopped the outpouring of paper money. Then the League put through a loan of 550,000,000 gold crowns for Austria, and this was taken up immediately, $25,000,000 of it allotted to New York being subscribed in twenty minutes. Under the League confidence has come back to Austria people are bringing their money back into the country, savings accounts are growing.

"A jubilant note which has not had one discordant harmony in it has proclaimed Austria saved from her life," Sir George continued. "If it had only been agreed to put Germany under the same management the same effect might have been brought about."

Sir George declared that for over five years the United States made propaganda for a world court. This world court has now been working for a year and a half and it has had business from the very first, investigating and handing down judgments. In twenty to thirty years of the operation of this court there will be built up a body of international law and authorities.

"My belief is that ninety per cent of the people of the United States are absolutely at one with the purpose and spirit of the league," Sir George said. "The war was not over, the objects not gained when the Armistice was signed. There was the more difficult problem of adjustment to peace and of getting Europe down to normal conditions. If the United States had stood by we would not have had many of the things we have today."

He said that the United States with none of the ambitions, suspicions, and hatreds, religious and racial, had a wonderful power over Europe when its army and navy went over. The people of Europe yearn to be free and a great country and it would operate for justice and right.

"No one could imagine the influence United States would have had over Europe," Sir George continued. "But sooner or later the United States whose heart beats true to the yearning for peace will come in and hasten the day of triumph for the League of Nations."

SAANICH FARMERS HEAR J. A. GRANT ON MARKETS ISSUE

Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant, of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, last night addressed the Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association at Keating Temperance Hall, dealing with the results attained this year in disposal of the small fruits crop.

The Commissioner considered that improvement in co-operation by shippers was essential, and stated that while the two large brokerage houses entrusted with distribution on the prairies had worked well together to obviate clash of interests there had been some difficulty in handling the independent shipments from Mainland and Island centres.

The quality of the forty-three cars of strawberries from Vancouver Island was praised, the berries being firm, good color and of large size, but the loganberry consignments were generally received in unsaleable condition. The increase in shipments from British Columbia to the Prairie Provinces was very marked, one hundred and thirty-three cars compared with seventy-seven cars in 1922. Much of the responsibility for the low prices earned was laid by the Commissioner to the faulty distribution, the speaker considering that berries could not earn a profit at a lower delivered price than $2.50 per crate.

He considered that local arrangements to absorb the surplus production by manufacture should be investigated by the growers.

Commissioner Grant was asked to express an opinion as to the best means of improving conditions in marketing the loganberry output, and advised inquiry into processing methods. He also approved of dehydrating the fruit, provided the output was not too large for absorption by the market, which needed education as to the merits of loganberries.

The meeting laid on the table an unfavorable report from a special committee which had been investigating a stock proposition made by the Laurel Cannery Ltd., whereby the members of the Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association were offered another market for loganberries of canning grade provided they individually purchased allotments of stock in the company.

Considerable discussion also arose over an offer of Scott and Peden to supply baled straw on long-term credit, this being referred to the directors of the association.

By Their Boots Shall Ye Know Them

NOTHING is more indicative of a man's condition in life than the way his feet are shod. There is the fellow with the down-at-heel look who is the personification of shiftlessness. He radiates incompetency.

Who, for instance, would entrust valuable documents to a banker or a lawyer who hadn't enough self respect to keep his feet decently covered? Who would submit his body for treatment to the doctor whose shoes indicated his carelessness?

And then there is the other chap who buys shoes often enough, but buys the wrong kind. He chooses them carelessly. He takes the first pair he sees because they are cheap, forgetting that real economy is in maximum service, not necessarily fixed on a basis of price.

The fellow who tortures feet with cheap shoes is a poor business man and his feet advertise that fact to everyone who meets him.

And yet although shoes are the most striking factors in the expression of a man's individuality, most people are more careless about their footgear than about any other part of their clothing. A good hat, neat suit, fashionable necktie and well chosen socks are frequently wasted because poor, sloppy shoes destroy the whole effect.

Health depends to a great extent on good, properly fitting shoes. The limping misfit who is careless about his foot attire is usually a houseworm because any expedition into the great outdoors is a torture and a bore.

The fitting of shoes is a science understood only by those who have studied it and intimately known the structure of the foot.

When you buy new shoes take the advice of your shoeman. If he wasn't an expert fitter he couldn't stay in business.

Happiness, prosperity and comfort depend to no small extent on the right shoes. So buy wisely and well. It is worth your best attention.

For by their boots shall ye know them.

Modern Footwear Is the Gift of Past Centuries

Here is the History of the Boot's Evolution From Crude Sandals of Early Times to the Fine Article of To-day

While you are hurrying along the path of your daily life do you ever give a thought to the genesis of that piece of apparel which has, perhaps, the greatest influence upon your health and comfort—the shoe?

It hasn't just happened to become what it is. Conscious evolution has gone into its development. Experience of countless millions has added new features to it, has modified extravagant styles, has brought it to its present height of beautiful appearance and comfort.

The sandal was the first step in this movement to obtain foot protection. It was simply a covering for the sole of the foot.

Sandals Different To-day

Sometimes the material used was leather, sometimes woven grass or other materials. It was attached to the sole of the foot by a thong of leather passing between the great and second toe, crossed over the instep and fastened around the ankle. Sandals are now only worn regularly among the peoples of Western civilization by friars, though forms of them are found among the peasants in Spain and the Balkans. They have in recent times been adopted in the dress of young women, the girls' "Hollywood" sandal being a feature of the present summer's footwear, but they are, of course, vastly different from the primitive styles of past centuries. In the Orient sandals of plaited grass, palm fronds, leather or other materials are still commonly in use.

Where climate demanded greater protection for the foot the primitive races shaped a rude shoe out of a single piece of untanned hide; this was laced with a thong and so made a complete covering.

Two Divisions in Making

Out of these two elements—sole without upper and upper without sole—arose the perfected shoe and boot, consisting of a combination of both. The boot proper differs from the shoe in reaching up to the knee, as exemplified by such forms as jack-boots, top-boots, Hessian boots and Wellington boots, but the term is now commonly applied to half-boots or ankle boots which reach only above the ankle. By the aid of the Eney-clopedia Britannica the evolution may be traced to the present time.

There are two main divisions of work comprised in ordinary shoemaking. The minor divisions—the making of "turn shoes"—embraces all work in which there is only one thin flexible sole, which is sewed to the upper while outside in and turned over when completed. Slippers and ladies' thin house boots are examples of this class of work. In the other division the upper is united to an insole and at least one outsole, with a raised heel. In this are comprised all classes, shapes and qualities of goods, from shoes up to long-top or riding boots, which reach to the knee, with all their variations of lacing, buttoning, elastic web, side gussets, etc.

Shoemaking was formerly a pure handicraft, but now machinery affects almost every operation in the art. On the factory system all human feet are treated alike; in the handicraft, the shoemaker deals with the individual foot, and he should produce a boot which, for fit, comfort, flexibility and strength cannot be approached by the product of machinery.

Shaped Around Wooden Last

The shoemaker, after measuring the feet, cuts out upper leather according to the size and pattern. These parts are fitted and stitched together by the "boot-closers," but little of this closing is now done by hand. The sole "stuff" is next cut out and assembled, consisting of a pair of inner soles of soft leather, and a pair of outer soles of firmer texture, a pair of welts or bands about one inch broad, of flexible leather, and lifts and top pieces for the heels. These, the "maker" mellowed by steeping in water.

He attaches the insoles to the bottom of a pair of wooden lasts, which are blocks the form and size of the boots to be made, fastens the leather down with lasting tacks, and, when it is dried, draws it out with pincers till it takes the exact form of the last bottom. Then he "rounds the soles" by paring down the edges close to the last, and forms round these edges a small channel or feather cut about one-eighth of an inch in the leather. Next he pieces the insoles all round with a bent awl, which bites into, but not through, the leather and comes out at the channel or feather. The boots are then "laced" by placing the uppers on the lasts, drawing their edges tightly round the edge of the insoles, and fastening them in position with lasting tacks. Lasting channel is cut round their edges, and through this channel they are stitched to the welt, about twelve stitches of strong waxed thread being made to the inch.

The soles are now hammered into shape; the heel lifts are put on and attached with wooden pegs, then sewed through the stitches of the insole, and the top-pieces, similar to the out-soles, are put on and nailed down to the lifts. The finishing operations embrace pinning up the edge of the heel, paring, rasping, scraping, smoothing, blacking and burnishing the edges of soles and heels, scraping, sandpapering and burnishing the soles, withdrawing the lasts, and cleaning out any pegs which may have pierced through the inner sole. Of course, there are numerous minor operations connected with forwarding and finishing in various materials, such as punching laceholes, inserting eyelets, applying heel and toe irons, hobnailing, etc. To make a pair of common stout-lacing boots occupies foundation of machine bootmaking. In 1810 M. L. Brunel patented a range of machinery for fastening soles to uppers by means of metallic pins or nails, and the use of screws and staples was patented by Richard Woodman in the same year.

Apart from sewing by machine or hand, three principal methods of attaching soles to uppers have been used. The first is "pegging" with small wooden pins or pegs driven through outsoles and insoles, catching between them the edges of the upper. The points of the pegs which project through the insole are cut away and smoothed level with the leather either by hand or by a machine pegging rasp.

Sewing Machines

The second is the system of "riveting or clinching" with iron or brass nails, the points of the nails being turned or clinched by coming in contact with the iron last used. The third method, screwing, has come into extensive use since the standard screwing machine was introduced in America by the McKay Sewing Machine Association of Boston, Massachusetts, and in Europe by the Blake & Goodyear Company, of London. The standard screw machine, which is an American invention, though the idea was anticipated by the Frenchman named Blanchon in 1856, is provided with a reel of stout screw-threaded brass wire, which by the revolution of the reel is inserted into and screwed through outsole, upper edge and insole.

The various forms of sewing machines by which uppers are closed, and their important modifications for uniting soles and uppers are also principally of American origin. But the first suggestion of machine sewing was an English idea. The patent secured by Thomas Saint in the English patent office in 1790, while it foreshadowed the most important features of the modern sewing machine, indicated more particularly the devices now adopted in the sewing of leather. After the introduction of the sewing machine for cloth work its adaptation to stitching leather both with plain thread and with the heated wax thread was a comparatively simple task.

Goodyear Perfects Sewer

On the outbreak of the civil war in America a great demand arose for boots, and, there being simultaneously much labor withdrawn from the market, a profitable field was opened for the use of the machine, which was now capable of sewing a sole right round. Machines were leased out to manufacturers by the McKay company at a royalty of from one-half to three cents on every pair of soles sewed, the machines themselves registering the work done.

The income of the association from royalties in the United States alone increased from $38,746 in 1863 to $589,973 in 1912, and continued to rise till the main patents expired in 1881, when there were in use in the United States about 1800 Blake McKay machines sewing 50,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes yearly.

The monopoly secured by the McKay company barred for the time the progress of invention, but still many other sole-sewing machines were patented. Among the most important of these is the Goodyear welt machine—the first mechanism adapted for sewing soles on lasted boots and shoes. This machine originated in a patent obtained in 1862 in the United States by August Destroy for a curved-in needle machine for sewing outsoles to welts, but was not successful till taken in hand by Charles Goodyear, son of the well-known inventor in indiarubber fabrics. This device was first applied in a machine for sewing turn shoes. Later it was used in a machine which sewed with a chain-stitch from the channel of the insole through the welt and upper, and a little later still it was followed by the "rapid outsole lock-stitch machine," which united the outsole to the welt with lock-stitching.

Now Done by Machinery

Improvements have been continually effected in the Goodyear system, and numerous accessory mechanisms have been brought out, until there is now not a single operation necessary in shoemaking, however insignificant, for which machinery has not been devised. In consequence the range of machines employed in a modern shoe factory is very extensive, the various operations being highly specialized and there being minute subdivision of labor. Though the fundamental principles were not in all cases of American origin, American inventors were foremost in developing such machinery, and America took the lead in employing it to the suppression of handwork in shoemaking. When English makers, in about the seventh or eighth decade of the nineteenth century, were forced by the pressure of economic necessity to do the same, they found that the suitable machinery was controlled by American makers, from whom therefore they had to hire it on the payment of royalties and under stringent conditions which rendered it difficult for them to use machines of any other maker even if available, on plain of the whole plant being stripped from their factories.

Monopoly by One Company

The British United Shoe Machinery Company, the English branch of the United Shoe Machinery Company of Boston, Mass., thus maintained a practical monopoly of the supply of shoe-making machinery in Great Britain. However, by the beginning of the twentieth century English makers began to assert themselves and to show that they could produce machines able to compete effectively with those from America. The loosening of the American monopoly thus begun was aided by the patent act of 1907, section 27 of which provided that a patent may be evoked if the article is not manufactured "to an adequate extent" in Great Britain (most of the shoe machinery in question having been manufactured in America), while section 28 prohibits the insertion in

AT THE THEATRES

ROYAL VICTORIA

The habitués of the Paris boulevards were treated to some real fun when the English director, Mr. Pearson, brought those delightful characters, Sam Opkins, Squibs and P. C. Charlie Lee, over here to take many of the scenes of the latest and biggest English comedy hit, "Take Me Back to Blighty," which is the attraction again today at the Royal. The fastidious Parisian was shocked and delighted at the sight of Sam Opkins, the English bloke, all arrayed in a French walking suit, with silk hat and spats, and almost perfect as to dress, but nevertheless being marked all over with the characteristic of a bloke, and going through his screamingly funny gesticulations in a manner that almost made the Arch de Triomphe scream with laughter.

Much of the action of "Take Me Back to Blighty" takes place on the streets of Paris, and as in the picture, "Me and My Gal," where remarkable views of Piccadilly Circus and other famous sections of London were shown as the story was unfolded, in this picture the boulevards of Paris are a treat to the eye, and the fun that is experienced there by the spectator as he follows the antics of those wonderful English characters—Squibs, Opkins and Charlie Lee, is such as will not be forgotten for long time to come. The leading actors in this wonderful English comedy are Betty Balfour, the darling of the Old Country, who again takes the part of Squibs, the flower girl, and Hugh E. Wright, the funniest bloke in England. Hugh E. Wright is the same actor who took the part of Sam Opkins in the other English comedy, "Me and My Gal," and who also took one of the leading parts in that never-to-be-forgotten film, "The Better One." Hugh E. Wright is rated in England as just about the funniest comedian in the world, and is considered over there to be funnier than Harold Lloyd, Charlie Chaplin, or any of the American fun-makers.

Playhouse—"Cappy Ricks," Royal—"Take Me Back to Blighty," Capitol—"Salomy Jane," Dominion—"Hollywood," Columbia—"A Rogue's Romance"

CAPITOL

Boulder Creek canyon, in California, has become a show place for tourists from San Francisco and other parts of Northern California. For here a complete mining settlement of the wild days of '49 was restored. Cabins built of redwood logs, open barns, the general store, the saloon and that indefinable atmosphere which marks back to the old days of the gold rush is faithfully reproduced.

As all part of the huge set constructed by Paramount for the filming of the George Melford production, "Salomy Jane," which is on view at the Capitol Theatre this week. Perhaps in no other place in California is there a more complete replica of one of those crude settlements where the first generation of the gold miners hewed out a place for themselves in the far west.

James Cruze was an actor once, himself. Not only on the screen but on the stage as well. Since leaving the host of the camera for a seat beside it, he has megaphoned his way into the front ranks with such pictures as "One of Our Boys," "Matrimony," "Failure," "The Old Homestead" and "The Covered Wagon," all Paramount pictures.

Now he has had an opportunity in his newest Paramount film "Hollywood." The second of the Dominion Fall season of super productions, which comes to the Dominion theatre this week, to direct not only actors, but some well known directors and officials. Those who will be seen in "Hollywood," besides the unknown players chosen for principal roles, to retain the illusion of outsiders in the studio and in Hollywood, include Cecil B. DeMille, Pola Negri, Thomas Meighan, William S. Hart, George Arlino, Jack Holt, Walter Hiers, Leatrice Joy, William L. Gage, Wita Naldi, Betty Compson, Lila Lee, May McAvoy, Theodore Kosloff, Lois Wilson and others.

COLUMBIA

"A Rogue's Romance," which will be shown at Columbia Theatre to-day, is filled with the atmosphere of gay life, its safety, its high, its Bohemian existence are all caught by the camera. Even Earle Williams and his French types in this story of a famous French crook who did more good than evil and who saved the world from a well known resorts of Paris are pictured, depicting the gay night life, and the life of the camera and brought to the theatre in "A Rogue's Romance."

"CAPPY RICKS" TO OPEN TO-NIGHT AT THE PLAYHOUSE

The Compton Comedy Company starts the second week of its season at the Playhouse with that international success, "Cappy Ricks." This is the first occasion on which this delightful comedy has been presented in Victoria, and, owing to the tremendous popularity of the famous "Cappy Ricks" stories, a great deal of interest has been aroused over the presentation of the stage version and large houses are expected to be the order for the week. Mr. Compton will play Cappy, and another of his excellent characterizations may confidently be expected. Miss Peggy Dunlop will have the part of Mary Ricks, a charming ingenue role which will suit her to perfection. All the other favorite members of the company are cast in suitable roles, and with new scenery painted by Mr. Wilfrid Bullock, "Cappy Ricks" should prove the biggest attraction yet staged at the Playhouse.

MR. FOX GETS AN IDEA

Mr. Fox had an ear that was pretty sore. He had gone too close to Mr. Dog's house the night before, and Mr. Dog, not being very friendly, jumped and caught Mr. Fox by one ear and held on, too.

But Mr. Fox was not afraid of a little pain or a big one, for that matter, when he was in danger. And he was at that moment. So he pulled and tugged as he ran with Mr. Dog hanging to that poor ear.

NOBODY'S LOVER

By RUBY M. AYRES

"Yes, I certainly did."

"And was he there?"

Mr. Simpson shook his head. "I really cannot say; I have not seen him since."

"I hope he was not," said Ursula vehemently. "It was a very poor sort of a concert." She looked away from him with rapt eyes.

Suddenly, "Why did he make that condition about my marrying, I wonder?" she asked.

Mr. Simpson was startled. "I really cannot say, unless he has some idea that if you married it might spoil your career."

"I should never allow anyone or anything to do that to me," said Ursula, junior, did not answer. She was very sure of herself, he thought. Such confidence in a girl so young and pretty was unusual.

"I should like to write and thank him," Ursula said suddenly. "There can be no harm in that, can there?"

"I should like him to know that I really am grateful. Will you give him a letter?"

"I certainly will; but it is not necessary. He is merely going to me from pure philanthropy, so he assures me, and he desires no thanks."

"I shall write all the same," Ursula insisted. "And I will send it to you. And now—is that all you want to say to me?"

"Everything, I think." A faint smile crossed Mr. Simpson's grave face. "Am I to be allowed to pay for the tea to-day?"

Ursula laughed. "Please," she said. They left the shop together and parted outside.

"And tell me when you see him—this wonderful client of yours," she said, as she turned away, "that he has made me happier than I ever thought I could be."

"I shall not forget."

"Happy, happy!" Ursula said to herself as she sped homeward.

The future had suddenly opened to her, bright and filled with promise. The clouds that had gathered around her had been dispersed as if by a magic wand. Her excited imagination leapt ahead into the days when fulfillment would have crowned her dreams.

"You look very pleased with yourself, Ursula," were the words with which her aunt greeted her. "Has somebody left you a fortune?"

Mrs. March was a thin, sour-faced woman, with unsmiling lips and a sharp tongue. If the faded portraits that adorned her drawing-room mantelpiece were to be believed, she had once been plump and pretty, but twenty years of married life had eventually changed her curves into angles and wiped every trace of youth and beauty from her face. She was fond of Ursula because she had adored her only brother, Ursula's father.

He had been the black sheep of a narrow-minded chapel-going family, but his sister, Millicent March, had given him all that love she had to bestow. She had married Henry March for no better reason than he had asked her, and she had spent her whole life regretting it. That was the most despicable of all things, a mean man, she knew also. She had no smallest hope, therefore, when Ursula came to them, eager for the future, and proud of the promise in her voice, that help could be expected from him.

"Your uncle never liked your father," she told the girl from the first. "He hated all my people. It is no use looking for help from him."

Ursula had not believed her.

"Uncle Henry believes in speculation," she asked. "Well, my voice is a speculation. Some day I shall be able to pay him back and a great deal more besides for anything he may do for me now."

"Your Uncle Henry will do nothing," his wife had repeated, and she had been right.

Henry March did not believe in music any more than he believed in love, or a man's duty to his wife. It was all stuff and nonsense, he declared. Nobody ever made a farthing out of singing rubbishy love songs. Ursula must be made to see sense. He could get her into a bank, where she could earn her good fifty shillings a week.

"Lorraine made a fool of her," he told his wife flatly. "Lorraine made a fool of everyone—himself included."

But hope had been slow to die in Ursula's heart. She had fondly imagined that Henry March could be managed, or coaxed. She had done her best to try and win some sort of interest from him, and failed.

"I told you what it would be," her aunt said stolidly. "You'll have to give up the idea. If I had got any money you should have it and welcome, for your father's sake, but I have none."

A number of sportsmen were relating their most thrilling experiences.
"I've just returned from hunting in the Rockies," said one. "One day I struck the trail of a bear, and I followed it for hours before giving it up."

"What made you quit," said one of his audience, "after putting in all that amount of work?"

"Well, to be quite frank," said the sportsman, "it appeared to me that the trail was getting altogether too fresh."

THE MAPLE LEAF

Editor of Canadian Club Organ Tells of Aims

The Maple Leaf Magazine has justified its existence as the official magazine of the Canadian Club movement and is fraught with great possibilities for the promotion of the Canadian Club movement and in guiding Canadian citizenship in the right direction, said B. C. Nicholas, president, to the convention of the Association of Canadian Clubs yesterday. The Maple Leaf would have an important bearing on the future of the country if it were supported. S. K. Smith, editor of the Maple Leaf, spoke of the aims of the magazine and the work it could do for the Canadian Club movement. A writer had suggested that there was room in Canada for a monumental publication of a race, and that was what the Canadian Maple Leaf hoped to become.

"Dear Katherine is so good-hearted! She went down to the slums yesterday to brighten the lives of the poor."
"That was kind of her. What did she do for them?"
"Told them all about the good time she'd had at Brighton."
